

There should be regulations that serve and protect the public from the monopolization of the airwaves. This consideration of relaxation of existing rules is a disgrace. If anything, the rules need to be made stricter, not easier to circumvent.